ton and at the same time made a "criminal" of the president of the United States if he served wine at a White House function.

In opening the discussion of a subject which promises to occupy considerable attention in congress at this session, Senator Edge pictured what he characterized as the deplorable conditions of bootlegging and corruption under the Volstead act and declared that congress must amend the law if these conditions are to be improved.

He asserted that a large proportion of the people "violate the law without the slightest compunction."

MORTGAGES ON SEIZED

AUTOS RULED INVALID.

A ruling of great importance to the automobile trade, and individuals and banks was made by U. S. District Judge Smith Hickenlooper in connection with the dismissal of a number of intervening petitions setting up mortgage liens, filed by mortgagees of automobiles seized in liquor transportation cases.

The ruling in effect is, that where mortgage loans are made without a rigid investigation of the moral and financial responsibility of the person or persons seeking financial accommodation, any effort to enforce a lien against any vehicle or vessel seized under the federal prohibition law will fail.

DRUNKS FINED.

Albert Wright and Bert Dale, who were charged being drunk and disorderly and placed under arrest Tuesday evening, had a hearing before Mayor Fitzpatrick and were handed a fine of $10 and costs each which they paid and were released.

Dayton—Russell Swihart, 21, was sentenced to serve fifteen years in the Ohio penitentiary for his part in the robbery of the Farmers' bank at Trotwood. He threw himself on the mercy of the court and took his medicine.

Paul Defenderfer, 16, the "baby bandit" who was his partner in the $1,200 hold up will be arraigned at a later date in juvenile court.

Police recovered $447 which Swihart says is all the money they obtained. They were arrested thirty minutes after the holdup.

Cleveland—The grand jury convened to investigate gambling in Cuyahoga county, may adjourn today.

The time allotted the jury to complete the probe has expired and Prosecutor Edward Stanton said he did not believe the situation warranted further sessions.

Opposition to adjournment was expressed by Judge Alva Corlett and others who have had active participation in the investigation.

Columbus—The trial of William Millhone, 21, Cumberland, Ohio, former newspaper man, charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor, Mrs. Margaret Robinson Trimble, 17, swung into its second day today.

Millhone has instructed his attorneys to move for dismissal of the charges. Judge Homer Z. Bostwick of the juvenile court, was expected to rule on the motion today.

Drain Old Bog to Find Prehistoric Man's Relics

Saskatoon, Sask.—Fossil hunters of the Royal Ontario museum digging in an ancient bog near Dundurn, 25 miles south of here, for some trace of North American prehistoric man, have erected a diaphragm pump on an elevated platform beside the swamp.

Through a hose the water is drawn off each day. An unknown species of antelope, a quantity of buffalo bones and Indian relics have been found. It was believed the pool served as a watering place for man and beast thousands of years ago and that in the lower strata of its sand will be found the imprint of the unknown North American prehistoric man.

Conscience Money

Logansport, Ind.—B. H. Hudson, 63, superintendent of the Logansport division of the Pennsylvania railroad here, has received $100 conscience money for the railroad company. The note attached to the money explained that the sender had kept the amount in his possession for years, but did not disclose the manner in which he had obtained it.

Good Mind Invaluable

He that procures his child a good mind makes a better purchase for him than if he laid out the money for an addition to his former acres.—Locke.

WESTERVILLE MOTORCYCLE OFFICER HELD

Columbus, Dec. 16, (UP)—Kenneth "Red" Serward, former motorcycle officer of Westerville and Hebron, was arraigned here today, charged with being the leader of a gang of bandits operating in and around Columbus.

Serward has confessed to two robberies, following the arrest of four other men believed to be members of his gang, detectives said.

Serward was captured in a lonely shack on the outskirts of town after detectives trailed him for 72 hours. He said he had retired to the shack because that was the least likely place police would look for him.

Identity of the leader of the gang was made by one of Serward's victims who recognized his voice during one of his "jobs." Police were given further clues when members of the gang implicated Serward when arrested.

CANNERIES OF CIRCLEVILLE ARE BIG ASSET

The canning industry of the country has in the past ten years grown to be one of the major industries of the nation and in the past year, produce to the value of eight hundred million dollars was canned, and no doubt in another year will reach a billion.

Circleville does not appreciate her canning industry. It is a distinct asset to the community, said Howard Orr, of the Winorr Canning company in an address delivered before the members of the chamber of commerce Tuesday evening.

The canneries of your city pays out $150,000 in salaries alone annually, and $275,000 for green produce to the farmer. For canning interests alone the railroads haul 900 carloads and of this number from five to six hundred cars are used to carry out the finished product.

The canning industries have placed your town on the map, better and stronger than any other line of business. You cannot go into any grocery of a city of any size and not find canning products from your home town.

The canning industry has seen its greatest development in the past six years. The World war in a measure was responsible for this; the government urged production to feed the millions across the pond. This had a tendency to place canning products on the market, of an inferior quality. The government wanted canned goods at once. It made us believe that the world conflict was going to last ten years, but the war ended abruptly and the consequences were appalling. We and hundreds of other canning centers were left with stocks of canned goods on hand and even the individual had laid in a private stock of food in tins. Everybody was stocked up on inferior canned edibles. There was a mighty slump and we had to find a remedy ourselves, we had lost caste and confidence with the housewife and in order to pull the industry out of the slough in which it had mired, we got together and formed an association and curtailed production.

We did not stop at this, we begun standardization and only put up such products of a grade that would command a fancy price. The result was a demand for canned goods by the public and we won back the confidence we had lost and today canned goods have become a necessity on the table. On board ships that ride the seas sailors now can have fresh canned vegetables daily. You do not hear of scurvy and the sailor now enjoys a well balanced diet.

The health of the American people is paramount. The important discoveries by scientists in the past few years, show that the vitamins, so essential to the health of the human being are furnished by canned foods to a larger degree than the same article of food cooked and canned in the household, the public was disillusioned by making complete tests. This has been a great boon to the canning industry, and has in the past six years continued on page four.

NEW HARDWARE STORE.

The Davidson Hardware company has leased the room in the Pythian castle building, now occupied by the dry goods store of Frank Mason, on North Court street. The company will take possession January 1, and expect to be ready for business about February 1.

L. E. Davidson, who is the head of the new firm is not a stranger in the city. He is well known here, having been a resident for a number of years. He has been connected with the Circleville Hardware store for the past six years as salesman and the past two years as manager.

OCTOGENARIAN MRS. R. CONRAD DIES AT AMANDA

Mrs. Reuben Conrad, aged 85 of Amanda, succumbed to pneumonia at 1:45 o'clock Tuesday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ernest Mettler, of Columbus. She leaves seven grandchildren and eleven great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted Thursday afternoon from the Methodist Episcopal church at Amanda with burial in the Amanda township cemetery.

BEAUTY WINS HONOR

Miss Dorothy Revier of Oakland, Cal., has been selected as the first of 25 movie stars to pose for portraits of beautiful women in the Salon d'Art at the Philadelphia exposition next year. Miss Revier, one of the Wampas "baby stars" of 1925, was educated at Oakland under the name of Dorothy Valera, and became well known in amateur theatricals.

Michigan Breeds Herd of Pure Albino Deer

Detroit, Mich.—On Grand Island, a game refuge in Lake Superior, is a herd of partial and pure albino deer—the result of breeding from Albinos originally taken by capture. Men have previously bred albinism into various animals, as the white rats and mice, and domestic rabbits, but this experiment constitutes the first attempt at such selective breedings with any of the large mammals.

That which has been accomplished on Grand Island, and with comparative ease, is difficult of accomplishment in a state of nature where the albino is easily conspicuous and speedily hunted down by man or the hunting beasts. There have been occasional reports of albino deer in Oregon. Always the white coat proves the animal's undomestic. There is no rest until it is slain.

x HARTMAN THEATER. x
x x x x x x x x

The inimitable Duncan Sisters, those incomparable comedienues who have swept the country with a gale of laughter in their whimsical musical version of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which they call "Topsy and Eva" will be the attraction at the Hartman theater Columbus, for the entire week beginning next Monday, December 14.

They come after long runs in New York, Boston and sixty weeks in Chicago. Their vehicle was written for them by Catherine Chisholm Cushing, the songs composed by the Duncan sisters and sung with a charm and vivacity that is unique in the history of the Hartman theater.

The beautiful and gifted Duncan girls have surrounded themselves with beauty and melodious voices to form a background for their entertaining gymhana. With them are show girls of exceptional voice and statuesque beauty, a program of specialty entertainers and Tiller's famous London Palace theater girls, who as steppers in get-ups reminiscent of our old time plantation pickaninnies, are one of the fastest and most intriguing dance numbers before the footlights today.

"Topsy and Eva" is a clean, wholesome show, beloved of young and old. In it the Duncan sisters have made the old time pathetic story of Topsy and Eva a modern, exquisite and harmonious tale of fun, frolic and just a touch of tenderness here and there and lots of laughs.

Prominent players who will be seen in support of the Duncan Sisters are Vernon Rickard, Antionette Boots, William Gordon, Edmund Fitzpatrick, Hal Sands, Myrtle Ferguson, Helen Reed, Dan Brennan, Bert Keyes, Jessie Bell, Isabel Kohr and Marguerite Bell.

The usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees will be given.

DEPOSIT PLAN OF AUTO COMPANIES IS ILLEGAL

Concerns Are Ordered By the Banking Department To Abandon Practice.

Columbus, Dec. 15.—The state banking department has "thumbs down" on the practice of certain automobile agencies accepting weekly payments from prospective purchasers of autos and paying interest upon such deposits until such time as sufficient money has accumulated to make a first down payment.

H. E. Scott, superintendent of banks, notified a Toledo agency, Dec. 10, that it must discontinue the practice at once, because it placed the automobile dealer in the category of a bank in accepting deposits and paying interest on such deposits. The company was notified that such practice is in violation of the state banking laws and that it is liable to a fine of $100 per day for every day the practice is continued.

The banking department's action was taken on attention being called to an advertisement of the Toledo company in which it said "We will pay you 8 per cent interest on your savings from date of deposit."

The company was directed "to discontinue this practice both as to advertising and actually receiving money on deposit," and to notify the banking department that the system has been discontinued. No reply to the order has been received by the banking department. A Columbus company also is understood to be offering a similar plan to purchasers, with but 6 per cent as the interest offered.

It was explained at the banking department that companies operating such plans of payment, but having the deposits made with banks, were not operating illegally.

Ship's "Eyes"

"Eyes of a ship" is a term applied to the foremost part of the bow, so called from the ancient practice which still obtains in parts of the Mediterranean and elsewhere of painting a large eye on each side of a vessel's cut-water as an emblem to avert the evil eye.

The time is passed when the measure of the value of a memorial is quantity. I hope the time has come when that measure is quality. I care not whether the material be marble or granite, its future will be measured by the character of the design. It is quality that has preserved for us the finest examples in painting and sculpture. It is quality that will stamp our imprint upon cemeteries of the future. Simplicity, correct lines and proportions and proper ornamentation are the real fundamentals. A design that is right, material that is lasting and perfect workmanship, spells success for the future of this industry and the beautification of the cemetery. ONE IS SHOT TO DEATH

Other To Hang at End of the Bandit Trail.

There's a vivid description of the manner in which Gerald Chapman and George (Dutch) Anderson went down to defeat at the hands of the law they flouted, told by Edward H. Smith in Liberty this week. Chapman, termed the greatest criminal of modern times, stands in the shadow of the gallows and Anderson was killed recently by an officer of the law in Muskegon, Mich., attempting to escape after the officer had placed him under arrest.

In the latter connection, Charles Dewitt Hammond, the Muskegon officer, is this week awarded Liberty Magazine's $1,000 weekly bravery award for his valor. He was killed by Anderson, but shot the bandit down before Anderson's bullet brought death to him. The award goes to Hammond's widow and children, as does the weekly gold medal which accompanies each bravery award.

After reciting the life histories of the two spectacular bandits, Mr. Smith says of Anderson:

"There is a touch of ironic pathos in the end of this extraordinary being. The 'greatest bandit of the decade,' as he had been called by the police, the man who took millions in one coup, came a grief putting down a slovenly twenty-dollar queer one that a clerk in a small-town bank could spot at sight. The master criminal was trapped doing the work of fools and underlings. To such a pass the pressure of the hunt and of the criminal game had brought the dread Dutch Anderson.

Be a Milk Tippler, Says Dr. Schireson

Peaches and cream complexions of American women have their foundation in a milk diet, according to Dr. Henry J. Schireson, famous Chicago dermatologist and surgical plastic surgeon.

Doctor Schireson has won fame by beautifying motion picture, musical comedy and vaudeville stars and many society women of America. He transformed Fanny Brice's nose, rejuvenated Eva Tanguay's face, removed sixty-four pounds of adipose tissue from Truly Shattuck in one operation, straightened the cross eyes of the leading lady of Singer's midwits, and has performed other corrections for making people young and beautiful.

Doctor Schireson has one infallible prescription for the attainment of beauty. It is: "One quart of milk a day, one hour of sunshine, and repeat ad libitum."

"Beauty specialists and cosmetic makers," says Doctor Schireson, "would be driven out of business in a few weeks if all the women of America would drink their quart of milk a day."

"Babies and children have complexions of angels for the reason that they are fed largely on milk. Milk used externally or internally is a beautifier. Anna Held, I believe, was the first actress who adopted the milk bath. While this was a novelty at the time, and her press agent undoubtedly made the most of it, the principle in itself was sound. But a beauty secret of even more value is the daily quart of milk taken as a part of the diet."

"The milk-fed girl is easily distinguished by the velvety texture and the healthy color of her skin. Milk is a wonderful body builder, because it contains every structural element. It is, in a way, an elixir of life."

"Authorities agree that milk is the most nearly perfect food but it is an extremely delicate one as well. Heat sufficient to kill all bacteria is the essential of absolutely pure and sterile milk. One of the advantages of evaporated milk, which is simply fresh cow's milk with sixty per cent of the water removed, is that it is entirely sterile and is more easily assimilated than ordinary market milk."

"Milk is mentioned forty-seven times in the Bible. The Promised Land of the Israelites was said to flow with milk and honey and Ovid graded milk as second only to nectar, the drink of the gods."

RARE COLLECTION OF BLACK OPALS

Put on View at Melbourne by Owner for United States Fleet.

Melbourne.—Probably the rarest collection of black opals in the world—a jewel found only in Australia and little known and as yet little popular in the rest of the world—is in this city, the possession of Kelsey I. Newman. This group of jewels, usually not on public exhibition, was, however, opened up to the personnel of the American fleet which recently completed its cruise of Australasian waters.

The collection was displayed in a curtained annex of the York House gallery, itself a treasure house of antiques gathered from all parts of the world by Isidore Kozminsky, Australia's leading authority on precious and semi-precious gems.

One of Mr. Newman's cases contained a group of Queensland golden sapphires ranging from one to fifty carats. These stones are nearly equal to the diamond in hardness and have a similar beauty, save that their light is orange instead of white.

In another case was a group of blue sapphires of varying shades from velvety blue to cornflower and light-water blue. In still another case were golden zircons, which are softer than diamonds but look very much like them.

Mr. Kozminsky pointed out that such a leading authority as Sir A. H. Church thought "the diamond and zircon had too many points in common to be set together." The zircon was known to antiquity, its name being derived from the Arabic word "zirc," meaning jewel; and in old Sanskrit books it is called the stone of the Moon's Nodes.

Mr. Kozminsky indicated to inquiring American officers that Professors Coster and Hevesty of Copenhagen, the recent discoverers of the element hafnium, had detected it in a blend with zirconium, a mineral of the same character as the zircon.

Opals Reflect Various Colors.

The prize group in the jewel collection, however, is the case of opals of all sizes and shapes. One of the most striking stones is a big oval gem of over 64 carats, already known to jewel collectors of the world as "Forest Fires." This stone when moved in the light throws off brilliant red rays very similar, in miniature, to burning trees at night.

Mr. Newman compared it to the historic opal, known as the "Burning of Troy," given by Napoleon to Josephine, while one of the visiting officers compared its coloring to the burning lava pit of the volcano Kilauea in Hawaii.

Another of the bigger stones called "Moonlight," throws off rays of yellow from a field of blue. A third stone called "Sunset" is similar to the sun descending on the horizon of a gray sky. Other minor gems give off tiny rays of reds, greens, mauves, violets and whites.

Other valuable opals in this collection are:

"The Rajah," a triangular gem of 116 carats, which combines flashing reds with purple, violet, green and gold.

"La Inferno," which displays a group of drooping trees from under which flames leap up, reflecting all the colors of a peacock's tail.

"Emerald Isle," moonlight green.

"Flame Queen" a Unique Stone.

Mr. Newman considers the best of his black opals to be "Flame Queen," a stone of 253 carats, measuring 2.8 by 2.3 inches, oval in shape. It was found some years ago at Lightning Ridge, New South Wales, near the Queensland border, the only important source of black opals in the world.

This gem is believed to be unique in structure and color. The center is slightly in relief, while the outside border stands out like a frame. The center of the stone throws out scarlet rays, and two slight depressions on each side and almost parallel to each other give the impression of a volcano in eruption.

The lower of the depressions reflects two triangular shafts of color toward the enclosing frame, which is green. Viewed from another angle the center becomes a vivid emerald and the frame a royal blue. Turned again the center is bronze touched with points of black within a frame of changing blue and amethyst. The stone is chameleon-like.

Mr. Newman, who is a native of Sydney, has spent years in bringing together these gems, which have been pronounced by experts as probably unrivaled in this particular field.

The Winorr Canning company, whose canned foods are as good, if not the equal and far better than the foreign article that you see on shelves in the stores. This city does not sell its share of canned goods in its home town. Our sales here hardly reach the volume of one-half of one per cent of our output. We pride ourselves in getting out as good a quality of canned goods. We would like to have your moral support. Pickaway county ranks second in the production of sweet corn in this country. LONDONERS PRAISE AMERICAN WOMEN

Many American women have visited London this fall on strictly business trips. They came to see the Bond street shops rather than Westminster abbey, the great stores along Victoria street rather than the tower. They illustrate, according to British comment, a remarkable indication of women's growing tendency to occupy prominent places in international business life. According to English manufacturers, who have dubbed them "the merchant princesses," they pay out money lavishly, make quick decisions, and in many ways are superior to men as commercial agents. Besides, they have a more intimate knowledge of the goods in which they deal—perfumes, wraps, furs and the like. Other professions honored by the visiting American women are insurance, advertising and land. The manager of the Savoy hotel announces with something akin to awe that one of them recently presided over a luncheon given to London business men of her profession and that she handled the difficult function with "all the keenness and precision of a man."

Appeal To President To Save Son From Firing Squad.

Defiance, Dec. 14.—(U.P.)—Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Christ Seybolt today appealed to President Coolidge to intercede in behalf of their son, Ralph W. Seybolt, 24, who will face a firing squad in Salt Lake City, Utah, in June for the murder of Patrolman David H. Crowther.

A second appeal was transmitted to Congressman Charles J. Thompson who was asked to supplement the plea with personal representations to the president.

The patrolman was slain in 1923. Sentence of death has been passed on Seybolt five times, but each time executive clemency has held execution in abeyance.

Whistling Saved Ship

How a man standing on the Hartlepool (England) breakwater guided a fishing vessel into harbor during a dense fog by whistling was told at a meeting of the port and harbor commissioners. So dense was the fog that the captain could not see where he was. Then he heard some one whistling, and called out, "Where are you?" Ascertaining that the voice came from the breakwater, he told the man to keep on whistling while he got his bearings. The man did so, and the vessel steamed safely into harbor.

MISSIONARY MEETING

The Christmas story from Ben Hur, told so beautifully by Mrs. C. E. Groce at the Missionary meeting of the Presbyterian Church which was held at the home of Mrs. A. A. Parrett on Friday afternoon of last week, was one of the numbers on the Christmas program of the society which was in charge of Mrs. W. W. Robinson. Another number on the program was the relating of various old customs in some foreign countries. Mrs. Florence Steele, told of those in India; Miss Moodie, in Alaska; Miss Sadie Brunner, Santo Domingo, and Miss Pedrick in Africa. These talks were very entertaining and especially appropriate at this season when old customs are very much in vogue. Mrs. Kinder was in charge of the devotional and Miss Helen Marion and Mrs. C. K. Hunsicker sang a group of Christmas songs. Mrs. Robinson then reviewed the first chapter of the Missionary Study Book—Peasant Pioneers. At the conclusion of the program the hostesses, Mrs. Parrett and Mrs. N. G. Spangler served delicious refreshments.

PICKING OUT ORIGIN OF FAMOUS PHRASES

Many, Thought New, Really Are Centuries Old.

"Why, it's just a bundle of quotations," Sp. rather disgustedly, a man, who had just seen "Hamlet" for the first time, summed up the play. Other people, a little better informed, may murmur "Shakespeare" when a wise old saw is quoted. But there are many proverbs and phrases that are not so easily tracked down. Sometimes it has never occurred to us to wonder about their origin; sometimes we think we know who said or wrote them first, and are quite wrong.

One of the best examples of this is the great phrase, "Government of the people, by the people, and for the people." In the minds of many people it is identified with Lord Randolph Churchill and the Primrose league. Others, better informed, know that Lincoln used it at Gettysburg in 1863, and that it became a rallying cry for the North during the Civil war.

Seventy years before Lincoln spoke at Gettysburg, however, almost the same phrase had been used by Robespierre. And over four hundred years before that John Wycliff wrote in his preface to the first English translation of the Bible: "The Bible is for the government of the people, by the people, and for the people."

Then there is the phrase inscribed on Keats' tombstone in Rome: "Here lies one whose name was writ in water." Most people think that the phrase is Keats' own, but it is really part of an old Arab proverb.

The more we go into this question of the origin of famous phrases and sayings the more fascinating we find it. And we get some amazing results. The ancients, we discover, were at times almost disconcertingly modern.

Who was it who first said "You have the ball at your feet"? This metaphor which conjures up a vision of the football field, is far older than football. Terentius tells us that Agricola used these words in a speech to his soldiers before a battle with the Caledonians.

The great Latin historian also reports a speech made by one of the Caledonian chiefs to his soldiers. In this occurs another very familiar phrase: "Where they make a desert they call it peace." "The terrors of the unknown loom large," is another proverb we find in the "Agricola" of Tacitus, and in the "Germania" he talks of "Combining peace with honor." Many a fine phrase, now so worn by usage that it is regarded as "hackneyed" is to be found in Chaucer. "He was as fresh as the month of May" occurs in the prologue to the "Canterbury Tales;" "To make virtue of necessity," and "The god of love, a benedictite, how mighty and how greet a lord is he!" in "The Knight's Tale," "Brown as a berry" and "Proud as a peacock" are two everyday similes we get from the same source.

Who was it that first coined the expressive phrase, "stark, staring mad"? It occurs in Rabelais' "Gargantua and Pantagruel," where it is coupled with "at his wit's end," but it is possible that it has been used by some earlier writer. The worst of tracking down quotations is that there is usually someone else who can go still further back than you can. "Short and sweet," and "as plain as a nose in a man's face," are also to be found in Rabelais.

The Climber

Prince Urey (George) Troubetzkoy said in an interview in New York:

"In Europe they like to keep a man in his place, while over here you like to see a man rise—foundling to errand boy, errand boy to manager, manager to millionaire and so forth.

"But in Europe! An English war veteran came from a war veterans' reunion the other night and said to his wife with a sneer:

"I believe in push and ambition and all that there, but when Sergeant Todd with his peg leg takes to carryin' a cane instead of a crutch—well, it looks to me as if he was tryin' to climb out of the station what divine providence sunk him into."

Oldest Republic in World Without Taxes

Paris.—One country which is not worried by the tax question is Andorra, the oldest and smallest republic in the world. It lies deep in the heart of the Pyrenees between the French and Spanish claims of that range.

Besides knowing no taxes it knows nothing about bathtubs, automobiles, radios, jazz bands, "complexes" and wars. It maintains an "army" of only six soldiers, one for each village, "in case of aggression."

The ledgers of the French ministry of finance each year charge Andorra 960 francs (about $50) as a levy originally laid by Louis le Debonnaire. Each year before the mule trails close for the winter, the French collector goes on his annual visit to Andorra to demand 960 francs.

The councillors deliberate seriously as to whether they shall make the contribution, and then, with staged reluctance, hand over a heavy and worn goatskin sack.

The collector writes out a receipt and hands back the sack. Legend has it that the sack does contain 960 francs—in lead coins and plugged francs, all worthless money which has found its way from France into the realms of the tiny republic. All of which may explain France's reluctance to accept that mysterious goatskin bag.

VENDETTALAND IS LAND OF CONTRAST

Corsica Is Full of Interest to the Tourist.

Washington.—Corsica, Mediterranean island, in the neighborhood of which France lost five brave seafaring airmen, in a disaster comparable to the loss of the PN-9 No. 1, is described as follows in a communication to the National Geographic society.

"Submerged by wave after wave of history and conquest, home of a race full of passion but free from low crime, the scented isle south of the Cote d'Azur offers a distinctive reward to those who leave the rush and display of the continent to visit vendettaland.

"Corsica, like every other country, is a land of contrasts. But more than most, it is the land of paradox. Behind the striking beauty of the island, concealed beneath the commonplace exterior of the people, there is a mystery, a contrary quality which first escapes observation and later intrudes everywhere. Probably nowhere is a generalization more likely to be true and false at the same time.

"One goes to Corsica, as did Boswell's friend, expecting to find every bandit a menace. He remains to find the man with the gun the most unromantic of mortals. Melodrama heroes have accomplished more with the glitter of a silver spoon held revolver-wise than the most Tartarinesque of Corsicans attempt when loaded to the belt. Yet personal encounter between natives is still a commonplace.

"Corsica, where women go safely alone by night and gendarmes travel in pairs by day, where there are hundreds of bridges and no rivers, where everyone expects the visitor to pay verbal tribute to 'Kalliste' (Most Beautiful) and few can name the mountains in whose shadow they were born!

"Banditry is still a byword and thievery is abhorred. The innkeepers boast of what grand things they would do if there were more tourists, and neglect the few they have. The sun gives the land its charm; and the snow, its beauty and health. The roads are blocked by horses, mules and donkeys, few of them laden, and the automobile, even for the single traveler, offers the cheapest means of transportation. The perfume of the maquis and the smells of the streets are alike indescribable."

LOANS up to $500

Did you ever go to a friend to borrow and have him turn you down? Tough— isn't it? No matter if you seek money, marbles or a monkey wrench, a turn-down from a friend is always tough. AMERICAN LEGION
AUXILIARYMeeting Held at Residence of
Mrs. Noah Weaver Last
Evening.

The beautiful home of Mrs. Noah Weaver in East Main street was the meeting place of the American Legion Auxiliary last evening and Mrs. Weaver proved a very thoughtful hostess.

The meetings at the different homes seems to be very popular with the organization as the attendance increases with each meeting. Two new members were present last evening and were received into the Post, in the persons of Mrs. N. O. Frye and Mrs. Lane.

The committee who visited Camp Sherman Hospital reported their findings and made the suggestion that the decorations for the Christmas tree be attended first and on motion made and carried, to buy this from the funds realized from the sale of poppies. Miss Florence was made chairman of the committee. It is the desire of the boys there to have a bird and it was also agreed to send a canary which Mrs. Holman will send within the next week. Mrs. Rooney will also make a donation of a parrot which the committee reports is very much desired.

An appropriation was also made for the Dayton Soldiers' Home and the Old Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' Home at Xenia, Ohio, for the Christmas budget.

Mrs. Prose as chairman of the auditing committee, not being able to be present, gave her report to the president. Miss Anna Florence, chairman of the nominating committee, then read the names of Mrs. A. A. Parrett for President; Anna Shea, Secretary; Mrs. B. T. Hedges, Treasurer; Mrs. Chas. Smith, First Vice President and Mrs. Elizabeth Moeller as Second Vice President. Upon motion which was seconded, the above mentioned candidates were elected.

Mrs. Parrett then made the appointments for the various offices for the coming year: Mrs. Chas. Gusman, Chaplain; Mrs. E. E. Prose, Hospital chairman; Mrs. Weaver, Pianist; Mrs. Robert Young, Historian; Mrs. Frank Goff in charge of the entertainment committee.

The president and auxiliary members are expecting great work from the last named committee as it is an innovation in the organization and Mrs. Goff seems to be very capable of producing results in that line.

The next meeting which would be on the evening of Dec. 28, was voted out as it coming so near Christmas it was thought best to put this off and make the meeting of January 11, which will be held at the home of Mrs. J. J. Rooney, the next regular meeting.

Sunday School Lesson

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D.D., Dean of the Evening School, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)
(© 1925, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for December 20

CHRISTMAS LESSON

LESSON TEXT—Matt. 2:1-15.
GOLDEN TEXT—"For unto you is born this day in the city of David, a Savior, which is Christ the Lord."—Luke 2:11.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Wise Men Visit the Baby Jesus.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Wise Men Follow the Star.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Christmas Spirit.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Prince of Peace.

Note: For this Sunday's lesson the lesson committee has given us an option of a Christmas lesson or a summary of Paul's life. It is presumed that most teachers will prefer the Christmas lesson since Paul has been the central figure for six months.

I. The Wise Men Seeking Jesus (vv. 1-2).

These wise men who sought Jesus were either Arabian or Persian astrologers, students of the stars. The appearance of an unusual star attracted their attention. Perhaps they were acquainted with the famous prophecy of Balaam (Num. 24:17). Doubtless through the influence of the Jews who remained in Chaldea, or the direct influence of Daniel extending to this time, they had become acquainted with the hope of a Messiah. The light they had was dim, but they lived up to the best they had. We learn from them:

1. That All True Wisdom Leads to the Savior, for He is the Fullness of Wisdom.

2. That God's Word Shall Not Return Unto Him Void (Isa. 55:11).

The seed cast upon the Eastern waters brought forth fruit after many days. This ought to bring confidence to many ministers and Sunday school teachers who have not as yet seen the fruit of their labors.

3. The Grace of God Calls Men From Unexpected Quarters.

Some who have the least opportunities give the greatest honor to Christ, while others, blessed with the richest opportunities, shut Him out.

II. Herod Seeking to Kill Jesus (vv. 3-8).

The news brought by the wise men struck terror to Herod's heart. He was not alone in this for all Jerusalem was troubled with him. A glimpse at the social customs in and about Jerusalem in that day will enable us to understand why this news brought uneasiness to the people. They were living in the greatest luxury. Beautiful apparel, sumptuous feasts, palatial houses, etc., led to gross immorality. We can thus readily see why Herod and all Jerusalem should be troubled. They did not want a Savior who would save them from their sins; they wanted to continue in them. Herod demanded of the priests and scribes information as to where Christ should be born. They were soon able to tell him. These people had a technical knowledge of the Scriptures, but had no heart for the Savior as set forth therein. Conditions much like these prevail today. This reception of the Savior shows that perverseness of heart is the cause of so many being indifferent to Christ, and of their opposition to Him when His claims are presented. It is true today that the luxuries of wealth, the frivolities of the fashion-lovers, and the gross immoralities to which these lead make Jesus Christ unwelcome in many quarters.

III. Jesus Found (vv. 9-12).

The wise men, having obtained the desired information, started immediately to find Jesus. As soon as they left the city the star which had guided them from the East appeared again to lead them on—not that it had disappeared from the sky, but no doubt the city buildings shut out its light. The star guided them to the place where Jesus was. When they found Him they worshiped Him. In this they displayed true faith. They did not see any miracle, only a babe, yet they worshiped Him as king. Blessed are they that have not seen and yet have believed (John 20:29). Note God's overruling providence in all this. Many hundred years before the prophet had said that Christ should come from Bethlehem (Micah 5:2). God so ordered affairs that Mary should be brought to that city to give birth to Christ. Let us be assured that nothing can thwart the divine purpose. God so ordered that these men should depart another way, thereby defeating Herod's wicked purpose. Through these wise men the Lord gave gifts into the hands of Joseph and Mary before their going to Egypt. Doubtless this served a good purpose in meeting their expenses during their stay there. Truly all things work together for good to them that love God (Rom. 8:28).

Old Figurehead Saved

What is said to be one of the finest examples of figureheads from American ships of the old days is to be seen at the home of Robert Moran, the Seattle shipbuilder, on one of the San Juan islands in Puget sound. It is a classic Greek figure of a woman with a short sword and flowing garments, suggesting the figure of Liberty, and once adorned the American clipper ship America, built at Quincy, Mass., in 1874.

The America was wrecked on one of the San Juan islands in 1914. The figurehead was carved from a solid white pine log and is of heroic stature. It is painted white and set in a concrete imitation of a ship's prow, on a pretty bench with a background of cedars and fir trees.

The figure led the gallant America on some renowned voyages. One was from New York to San Francisco, around the adventurous Horn, in 89 days, and once from San Francisco to Liverpool in 102 days.

PRESIDENT VON HINDENBURG

Attempting the Formation of
New Cabinet.

Berlin, Dec. 14.—(UP).—Von Hindenburg today requested ex-interior Minister Koch, Democrat, to attempt formation of a cabinet to succeed the Luther cabinet, resigned. Koch accepted the mandate and set about trying to gather a so-called "big coalition" including Foreign Minister Stressemann's folks party, the centrist (catholic), Democratic and Socialistic party. His chances of success however, were deemed extremely slight. Developments during the past week made it appear inadvisable to follow out the original plan of asking Chancellor Luther to undertake the rebuilding, but it is possible that Hindenburg eventually will revert to this plan.

The Rare Okapi

It is to be hoped that the okapi, which has been captured alive in Belgian Congo by Capt. Marshall Field, will be brought safely to this country. These are the shyest animals known and until a few years ago was entirely unknown. This is said to be only the second one captured and very few have ever been seen. The first one was taken to Europe and died after six months in captivity. The okapi resists capture to the point of death and its nearest relative is the giraffe. It lives in the most inaccessible parts of the country.

HEBER LODGE CELEBRATED ANNIVERSARY

Captain William B. Davis, Its First Master, Was The Guest of Honor.

The Masons of Heber lodge, Williamsport, their families and invited guests numbering about 300, had a most delightful time Tuesday evening celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the order in that village.

It was truly a red letter day in the history of Masonry in Williamsport when distinguished Masons from various parts of the state met with the local brethren and rejoiced with them over the accomplishments of their first half century and predicted yet greater prosperity and greater usefulness in the half century just ahead.

A most unusual feature in connection with the affair is the fact that the first worshipful master of the lodge, Captain William B. Davis, is still a resident of the village and very actively engaged in business under the name of the Davis Hardware company. Of all the members of the organization in 1875, he is the only one living.

Heber lodge has had its ups and downs, but its members were a devoted lot who refused to be discouraged by adversity, and now have the satisfaction of owning an elegant home with splendid equipment, money in reserve and a membership of 163 representative men of the community and—no debts.

The celebration began at five o'clock with a reception in the lodge rooms and this was followed by an elegant dinner, prepared and served by the Ladies' Aid society in the community house of the Methodist Episcopal church.

At 7:30, a program was rendered in the lodge room and this was most thoroughly enjoyed by all, the most interesting part of which was the lodge history by Captain Davis in which he recounted the trials and difficulties encountered and overcome before they received the coveted charter.

It is a noteworthy fact that Heber lodge has furnished a thrice illustrious grand master for the grand council, Royal and Select Masters of Ohio, in the person of Edward C. Rector, who discharged the duties of that high office with honor to himself and the lodge from whence he came, and that C. E. Hill, another of its members is the efficient inspector for this Masonic district.

The program was:

Vocal Solo Mrs. Burdick Hunsicker

A Hearty Hand Shake—Good Night
The Knapp Bros., orchestra of Five Points, which furnished the music for the occasion is composed of the following: Helen Fulton, Frances Porter, Geraldine Dennis, Charlotte Knapp, Julia Hosler, Frances McCafferty, DeWitt Bach, Russell Hosler. The director of the orchestra is little Mary Elizabeth Knapp, eight years old.

E. C. Rector was master of ceremonies and short talks were made by Albert Scholl, Chillicothe, thrice illustrious grand master of the grand council of Royal and Select Masters of Ohio; Colonel Simeon Nash of Columbus inspector of the 14th district; Asa Queen, of Marion, inspector for the 15th district; Theodore Wangen, of Coshocton, council inspector; James H. Eymon of Marion, who is a past master of Heber lodge, and C. C. Chapplear. Concluding the ceremonies on behalf of the membership Captain Davis was presented a large bouquet of chrysanthemums, as a slight token of the respect and love they have for the first master of the lodge.

Useless Test

Dr. Lewis H. Haney, head of the business research bureau of New York university, said at a dinner:

"I am against communism and bolshevism. We'll always have successes and failures, as we'll always have good weather and bad weather, sun and rain, light and darkness.

"Why, if you reduced all mankind to one dead level, that level would soon get full of hillocks and hollows.

"In other words, even if you put the rich man under the poor man's feet, the poor man would only just be walking on his uppers."

In opening the discussion of a subject which promises to occupy considerable attention in congress at this session, Senator Edge pictured what he characterized as the deplorable conditions of bootlegging and corruption under the Volstead act and declared that congress must amend the law if these conditions are to be improved.

He asserted that a large proportion of the people "violate the law without the slightest compunction."

MORTGAGES ON SEIZED

AUTOS RULED INVALID.

A ruling of great importance to the automobile trade, and individuals and banks was made by U. S. District Judge Smith Hickenlooper in connection with the dismissal of a number of intervening petitions setting up mortgage liens, filed by mortgagees of automobiles seized in liquor transportation cases.

The ruling in effect is, that where mortgage loans are made without a rigid investigation of the moral and financial responsibility of the person or persons seeking financial accommodation, any effort to enforce a lien against any vehicle or vessel seized under the federal prohibition law will fail.

HAPPENINGS IN OUR STATE

Taken Direct From Wires By Correspondents of the United States Press Association.

(United Press)

Dayton—Russell Swihart, 21, was sentenced to serve fifteen years in the Ohio penitentiary for his part in the robbery of the Farmers' bank at Trotwood. He threw himself on the mercy of the court and took his medicine.

Paul Defenderfer, 16, the "baby bandit" who was his partner in the $1,200 hold up will be arraigned at a later date in juvenile court.

Police recovered $447 which Swihart says is all the money they obtained. They were arrested thirty minutes after the holdup.

Cleveland—The grand jury convened to investigate gambling in Cuyahoga county, may adjourn today.

The time allotted the jury to complete the probe has expired and Prosecutor Edward Stanton said he did not believe the situation warranted further sessions.

Opposition to adjournment was expressed by Judge Alva Corlett and others who have had active participation in the investigation.

Columbus—The trial of William Millhone, 21, Cumberland, Ohio, former newspaper man, charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor, Mrs. Margaret Robinson Trimble, 17, swung into its second day today.

Millhone has instructed his attorneys to move for dismissal of the charges. Judge Homer Z. Bostwick of the juvenile court, was expected to rule on the motion today.

Drain Old Bog to Find Prehistoric Man's Relics

Saskatoon, Sask.—Fossil hunters of the Royal Ontario museum digging in an ancient bog near Dundurn, 25 miles south of here, for some trace of North American prehistoric man, have erected a diaphragm pump on an elevated platform beside the swamp.

Through a hose the water is drawn off each day. An unknown species of antelope, a quantity of buffalo bones and Indian relics have been found. It was believed the pool served as a watering place for man and beast thousands of years ago and that in the lower strata of its sand will be found the imprint of the unknown North American prehistoric man.

WESTERVILLE MOTORCYCLE OFFICER HELD

Columbus, Dec. 16, (UP)—Kenneth "Red" Serward, former motorcycle officer of Westerville and Hebron, was arraigned here today, charged with being the leader of a gang of bandits operating in and around Columbus.

Serward has confessed to two robberies, following the arrest of four other men believed to be members of his gang, detectives said.

Serward was captured in a lonely shack on the outskirts of town after detectives trailed him for 72 hours. He said he had retired to the shack because that was the least likely place police would look for him.

Identity of the leader of the gang was made by one of Serward's victims who recognized his voice during one of his "jobs." Police were given further clues when members of the gang implicated Serward when arrested.

CANNERIES OF CIRCLEVILLE ARE BIG ASSET

Howard Orr Made Interesting Address at the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday Eve.

The canning industry of the country has in the past ten years grown to be one of the major industries of the nation and in the past year, produce to the value of eight hundred million dollars was canned, and no doubt in another year will reach a billion.

Circleville does not appreciate her canning industry. It is a distinct asset to the community, said Howard Orr, of the Winorr Canning company in an address delivered before the members of the chamber of commerce Tuesday evening.

The canneries of your city pays out $150,000 in salaries alone annually, and $275,000 for green produce to the farmer. For canning interests alone the railroads haul 900 carloads and of this number from five to six hundred cars are used to carry out the finished product.

The canning industries have placed your town on the map, better and stronger than any other line of business. You cannot go into any grocery of a city of any size and not find canning products from your home town.

The canning industry has seen its greatest development in the past six years. The World war in a measure was responsible for this; the government urged production to feed the millions across the pond. This had a tendency to place canning products on the market, of an inferior quality. The government wanted canned goods at once. It made us believe that the world conflict was going to last ten years, but the war ended abruptly and the consequences were appalling. We and hundreds of other canning centers were left with stocks of canned goods on hand and even the individual had laid in a private stock of food in tins. Everybody was stocked up on inferior canned edibles. There was a mighty slump and we had to find a remedy ourselves, we had lost caste and confidence with the housewife and in order to pull the industry out of the slough in which it had mired, we got together and formed an association and curtailed production.

We did not stop at this, we begun standardization and only put up such products of a grade that would command a fancy price. The result was a demand for canned goods by the public and we won back the confidence we had lost and today canned goods have become a necessity on the table. On board ships that ride the seas sailors now can have fresh canned vegetables daily. You do not hear of scurvy and the sailor now enjoys a well balanced diet.

The health of the American people is paramount. The important discoveries by scientists in the past few years, show that the vitamins, so essential to the health of the human being are furnished by canned foods to a larger degree than the same article of food cooked and canned in the household, the public was disillusioned by making complete tests. This has been a great boon to the canning industry, and has in the past six years continued on page four.

NEW HARDWARE STORE.

The Davidson Hardware company has leased the room in the Pythian castle building, now occupied by the dry goods store of Frank Mason, on North Court street. The company will take possession January 1, and expect to be ready for business about February 1.

L. E. Davidson, who is the head of the new firm is not a stranger in the city. He is well known here, having been a resident for a number of years. He has been connected with the Circleville Hardware store for the past six years as salesman and the past two years as manager.

OCTOGENARIAN MRS. R. CONRAD DIES AT AMANDA

Mrs. Reuben Conrad, aged 85 of Amanda, succumbed to pneumonia at 1:45 o'clock Tuesday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ernest Mettler, of Columbus. She leaves seven grandchildren and eleven great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted Thursday afternoon from the Methodist Episcopal church at Amanda with burial in the Amanda township cemetery.

BEAUTY WINS HONOR

Miss Dorothy Revier of Oakland, Cal., has been selected as the first of 25 movie stars to pose for portraits of beautiful women in the Salon d'Art at the Philadelphia exposition next year. Miss Revier, one of the Vampas "baby stars" of 1925, was educated at Oakland under the name of Dorothy Valera, and became well known in amateur theatricals.

Michigan Breeds Herd of Pure Albino Deer

Detroit, Mich.—On Grand Island, a game refuge in Lake Superior, is a herd of partial and pure albino deer—the result of breeding from Albinos originally taken by capture. Men have previously bred albinism into various animals, as the white rats and mice, and domestic rabbits, but this experiment constitutes the first attempt at such selective breedings with any of the large mammals.

That which has been accomplished on Grand Island, and with comparative ease, is difficult of accomplishment in a state of nature where the albino is cruelly conspicuous and speedily hunted down by man or the hunting beasts.

There have been occasional reports of albino deer in Oregon. Always the white coat proves the animal's undomestic. There is no rest until it is slain.

x HARTMAN THEATER. x
x x x x x x x x

The inimitable Duncan Sisters, those incomparable comedienne who have swept the country with a gale of laughter in their whimsical musical version of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which they call "Topsy and Eva" will be the attraction at the Hartman theater Columbus, for the entire week beginning next Monday, December 14.

They come after long runs in New York, Boston and sixty weeks in Chicago. Their vehicle was written for them by Catherine Chisholm Cushing, the songs composed by the Duncan sisters and sung with a charm and vivacity that is unique in the history of the Hartman theater.

The beautiful and gifted Duncan girls have surrounded themselves with beauty and melodious voices to form a background for their entertaining gymnasia. With them are show girls of exceptional voice and statuesque beauty, a program of specialty entertainers and Tiller's famous London Palace theater girls, who as steppers in get-ups reminiscent of our old time plantation pickaninnies, are one of the fastest and most intriguing dance numbers before the footlights today.

"Topsy and Eva" is a clean, wholesome show, beloved of young and old. In it the Duncan sisters have made the old time pathetic story of Topsy and Eva a modern, exquisite and harmonious tale of fun, frolic and just a touch of tenderness here and there and lots of laughs.

Prominent players who will be seen in support of the Duncan Sisters are Vernon Rickard, Antionette Boots, William Gordon, Edmund Fitzpatrick, Hal Sands, Myrtle Ferguson, Helen Reed, Dan Brennan, Bert Keyes, Jessie Bell, Isabel Kohr and Marguerite Bell.

The usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees will be given.

DEPOSIT PLAN OF AUTO COMPANIES IS ILLEGAL

Concerns Are Ordered By the Banking Department To Abandon Practice.

Columbus, Dec. 15.—The state banking department has "thumbs down" on the practice of certain automobile agencies accepting weekly payments from prospective purchasers of autos and paying interest upon such deposits until such time as sufficient money has accumulated to make a first down payment.

H. E. Scott, superintendent of banks, notified a Toledo agency, Dec. 10, that it must discontinue the practice at once, because it placed the automobile dealer in the category of a bank in accepting deposits and paying interest on such deposits. The company was notified that such practice is in violation of the state banking laws and that it is liable to a fine of $100 per day for every day the practice is continued.

The banking department's action was taken on attention being called to an advertisement of the Toledo company in which it said "We will pay you 8 per cent interest on your savings from date of deposit."

The company was directed "to discontinue this practice both as to advertising and actually receiving money on deposit," and to notify the banking department that the system has been discontinued. No reply to the order has been received by the banking department. A Columbus company also is understood to be offering a similar plan to purchasers, with but 6 per cent as the interest offered.

It was explained at the banking department that companies operating such plans of payment, but having the deposits made with banks, were not operating illegally.

Ship's "Eyes"

"Eyes of a ship" is a term applied to the foremost part of the bow, so called from the ancient practice which still obtains in parts of the Mediterranean and elsewhere of painting a large eye on each side of a vessel's cut-water as an emblem to avert the evil eye.

The time is passed when the measure of the value of a memorial is quantity. I hope the time has come when that measure is quality. I care not whether the material be marble or granite, its future will be measured by the character of the design. It is quality that has preserved for us the finest examples in painting and sculpture. It is quality that will stamp our imprint upon cemeteries of the future. Simplicity, correct lines and proportions and proper ornamentation are the real fundamentals. A design that is right, material that is lasting and perfect workmanship, spells success for the future of this industry and the beautification of the cemetery. ONE IS SHOT TO DEATH

Other To Hang at End of the Bandit Trail.

There's a vivid description of the manner in which Gerald Chapman and George (Dutch) Anderson went down to defeat at the hands of the law they flouted, told by Edward H. Smith in Liberty this week. Chapman, termed the greatest criminal of modern times, stands in the shadow of the gallows and Anderson was killed recently by an officer of the law in Muskegon, Mich., attempting to escape after the officer had placed him under arrest.

In the latter connection, Charles Dewitt Hammond, the Muskegon officer, is this week awarded Liberty Magazine's $1,000 weekly bravery award for his valor. He was killed by Anderson, but shot the bandit down before Anderson's bullet brought death to him. The award goes to Hammond's widow and children, as does the weekly gold medal which accompanies each bravery award.

After reciting the life histories of the two spectacular bandits, Mr. Smith says of Anderson:

"There is a touch of ironic pathos in the end of this extraordinary being. The greatest bandit of the decade, as he had been called by the police, the man who took millions in one coup, came a grief putting down a slovenly twenty-dollar queer one that a clerk in a small-town bank could spot at sight. The master criminal was trapped doing the work of fools and underlings. To such a pass the pressure of the hunt and of the criminal game had brought the dread Dutch Anderson.

Be a Milk Tippler, Says Dr. Schireson

Peaches and cream complexion of American women have their foundation in a milk diet, according to Dr. Henry J. Schireson, famous Chicago dermatologist and facial plastic surgeon.

Doctor Schireson has won fame by beautifulizing motion picture, musical comedy and vaudeville stars and many society women of America. He transformed Fanny Brice's nose, rejuvenated Eva Tanguay's face, removed sixty-four pounds of adipose tissue from Truly Shattuck in one operation, straightened the cross eyes of the leading lady of Singer's midwits, and has performed other corrections for making people young and beautiful.

Doctor Schireson has one infallible prescription for the attainment of beauty. It is: "One quart of milk a day, one hour of sunshine, and repeat ad libitum."

"Beauty specialists and cosmetic makers," says Doctor Schireson, "would be driven out of business in a few weeks if all the women of America would drink their quart of milk a day."

"Babies and children have complexions of angels for the reason that they are fed largely on milk. Milk used externally or internally is a beautifier. Anna Held, I believe, was the first actress who adopted the milk bath. While this was a novelty at the time, and her press agent undoubtedly made the most of it, the principle in itself was sound. But a beauty secret of even more value is the daily quart of milk taken as a part of the diet."

"The milk-fed girl is easily distinguished by the velvety texture and the healthy color of her skin. Milk is a wonderful body builder, because it contains every structural element. It is, in a way, an elixir of life."

"Authorities agree that milk is the most nearly perfect food but it is an extremely delicate one as well. Heat sufficient to kill all bacteria is the essential of absolutely pure and sterile milk. One of the advantages of evaporated milk, which is simply fresh cow's milk with sixty per cent of the water removed, is that it is entirely sterile and is more easily assimilated than ordinary market milk."

"Milk is mentioned forty-seven times in the Bible. The Promised Land of the Israelites was said to flow 'with milk and honey' and Ovid graded milk as second only to nectar, the drink of the gods."

RARE COLLECTION OF BLACK OPALS

Put on View at Melbourne by Owner for United States Fleet.

Melbourne.—Probably the rarest collection of black opals in the world—a jewel found only in Australia and little known and as yet little popular in the rest of the world—is in this city, the possession of Kelsey I. Newman. This group of jewels, usually not on public exhibition, was, however, opened up to the personnel of the American fleet which recently completed its cruise of Australasian waters.

The collection was displayed in a curtained annex of the York House gallery, itself a treasure house of antiques gathered from all parts of the world by Isidore Kozminsky, Australia's leading authority on precious and semi-precious gems.

One of Mr. Newman's cases contained a group of Queensland golden sapphires ranging from one to fifty carats. These stones are nearly equal to the diamond in hardness and have a similar beauty, save that their light is orange instead of white.

In another case was a group of blue sapphires of varying shades from velvety blue to cornflower and light-water blue. In still another case were golden zircons, which are softer than diamonds but look very much like them.

Mr. Kozminsky pointed out that such a leading authority as Sir A. H. Church thought "the diamond and zircon had too many points in common to be set together." The zircon was known to antiquity, its name being derived from the Arabic word "zirc," meaning jewel; and in old Sanskrit books it is called the stone of the Moon's Nodes.

Mr. Kozminsky indicated to inquiring American officers that Professor Coster and Hevesty of Copenhagen, the recent discoverers of the element hafnium, had detected it in a blend with zirconium, a mineral of the same character as the zircon.

Opals Reflect Various Colors.

The prize group in the jewel collection, however, is the case of opals of all sizes and shapes. One of the most striking stones is a big oval gem of over 64 carats, already known to jewel collectors of the world as "Forest Fires." This stone when moved in the light throws off brilliant red rays very similar, in miniature, to burning trees at night.

Mr. Newman compared it to the historic opal, known as the "Burning of Troy," given by Napoleon to Josephine while one of the visiting officers compared its coloring to the burning lava pit of the volcano Kilauea in Hawaii. Another of the bigger stones called "Moonlight," throws off rays of yellow from a field of blue. A third stone called "Sunset" is similar to the sun descending on the horizon of a gray sky. Other minor gems give off tiny rays of reds, greens, mauves, violets and whites.

Other valuable opals in this collection are: "The Rajah," a triangular gem of 116 carats, which combines flashing reds with purple, violet, green and gold.

"La Inferno," which displays a group of drooping trees from under which flames leap up, reflecting all the colors of a peacock's tail.

"Emerald Isle," moonlight green.

"Flame Queen," a Unique Stone.

Mr. Newman considers the best of his black opals to be "Flame Queen," a stone of 253 carats, measuring 2.8 by 2.3 inches, oval in shape. It was found some years ago at Lightning Ridge, New South Wales, near the Queensland border, the only important source of black opals in the world.

This gem is believed to be unique in structure and color. The center is slightly in relief, while the outside border stands out like a frame. The center of the stone throws out scarlet rays, and two slight depressions on each side and almost parallel to each other give the impression of a volcano in eruption.

The lower of the depressions reflects two triangular shafts of color toward the enclosing frame, which is green. Viewed from another angle the center becomes a vivid emerald and the frame a royal blue. Turned again the center is bronze touched with points of black within a frame of changing blue and amethyst. The stone is chameleon-like.

Mr. Newman, who is a native of Sydney, has spent years in bringing together these gems, which have been pronounced by experts as probably unrivaled in this particular field.

LONDONERS PRAISE AMERICAN WOMEN

Many American women have visited London this fall on strictly business trips. They came to see the Bond street shops rather than Westminster abbey, the great stores along Victoria street rather than the tower. They illustrate, according to British comment, a remarkable indication of women's growing tendency to occupy prominent places in international business life. According to English manufacturers, who have dubbed them "the merchant princesses," they pay out money lavishly, make quick decisions, and in many ways are superior to men as commercial agents. Besides, they have a more intimate knowledge of the goods in which they deal—perfumes, wraps, furs and the like. Other professions honored by the visiting American women are insurance, advertising and land. The manager of the Savoy hotel announces with something akin to awe that one of them recently presided over a luncheon given to London business men of her profession and that she handled the difficult function with "all the keenness and precision of a man."

Appeal To President To Save Son From Firing Squad.

Defiance, Dec. 14.—(U.P.)—Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Christ Seybolt today appealed to President Coolidge to intercede in behalf of their son, Ralph W. Seybolt, 24, who will face a firing squad in Salt Lake City, Utah, in June for the murder of Patrolman David H. Crowther.

A second appeal was transmitted to Congressman Charles J. Thompson who was asked to supplement the plea with personal representations to the president. The patrolman was slain in 1923. Sentence of death has been passed on Seybolt five times, but each time executive clemency has held execution in abeyance.

Hew a man standing on the Hartlepool (England) breakwater guided a fishing vessel into harbor during a dense fog by whistling was told at a meeting of the port and harbor commissioners. So dense was the fog that the captain could not see where he was. Then he heard some one whistling, and called out, "Where are you?" Ascertaining that the voice came from the breakwater, he told the man to keep on whistling while he got his bearings. The man did so, and the vessel steamed safely into harbor.

MISSIONARY MEETING

The Christmas story from Ben Hur, told so beautifully by Mrs. C. E. Groce at the Missionary meeting of the Presbyterian Church which was held at the home of Mrs. A. A. Parrett on Friday afternoon of last week, was one of the numbers on the Christmas program of the society which was in charge of Mrs. W. W. Robinson. Another number on the program was the relating of various old customs in some foreign countries. Mrs. Florence Steele, told of those in India; Miss Moodie, in Alaska; Miss Sadie Brunner, Santo Domingo, and Miss Pedrick in Africa. These talks were very entertaining and especially appropriate at this season when old customs are very much in vogue. Mrs. Kindler was in charge of the devotional and Miss Helen Marion and Mrs. C. K. Hunsicker sang a group of Christmas songs. Mrs. Robinson then reviewed the first chapter of the Missionary Study Book—Peasant Pioneers.

At the conclusion of the program the hostesses, Mrs. Parrett and Mrs. N. G. Spangler served delicious refreshments.

PICKING OUT ORIGIN OF FAMOUS PHRASES

Many, Thought New, Really Are Centuries Old.

"Why, it's just a bundle of quotations." So, rather disgustedly, a man, who had just seen "Hamlet" for the first time, summed up the play.

Other people, a little better informed, may murmur "Shakespeare" when a wise old saw is quoted. But there are many proverbs and phrases that are not so easily tracked down. Sometimes it has never occurred to us to wonder about their origin; sometimes we think we know who said or wrote them first, and are quite wrong.

One of the best examples of this is the great phrase, "Government of the people, by the people, and for the people." In the minds of many people it is identified with Lord Randolph Churchill and the Primrose league. Others, better informed, know that Lincoln used it at Gettysburg in 1863, and that it became a rallying cry for the North during the Civil war.

Seventy years before Lincoln spoke at Gettysburg, however, almost the same phrase had been used by Robespierre. And over four hundred years before that John Wyclif wrote in his preface to the first English translation of the Bible: "The Bible is for the government of the people, by the people, and for the people."

Then there is the phrase inscribed on Keats' tombstone in Rome: "Here lies one whose name was writ in water." Most people think that the phrase is Keats' own, but it is really part of an old Arab proverb.

The more we go into this question of the origin of famous phrases and sayings the more fascinating we find it. And we get some amazing results. The ancients, we discover, were at times almost disconcertingly modern.

Who was it who first said "You have the ball at your feet"? This metaphor which conjures up a vision of the football field, is far older than football. Tacitus tells us that Agricola used these words in a speech to his soldiers before a battle with the Caledonians.

The great Latin historian also reports a speech made by one of the Caledonian chiefs to his soldiers. In this occurs another very familiar phrase: "Where they make a desert they call it peace." "The terrors of the unknown loom large," is another proverb we find in the "Agricola" of Tacitus, and in the "Germania" he talks of "Combining peace with honor." Many a fine phrase, now so worn by usage that it is regarded as "hackneyed" is to be found in Chaucer. "He was as fresh as is the month of May" occurs in the prologue to the "Canterbury Tales." "To make vertu of necessity," and "The god of love, a benedicite, how mighty and how greet a lord is he!" in "The Knight's Tale." "Brown as a berry" and "Proud as a peacock" are two everyday similes we get from the same source.

Who was it that first coined the expressive phrase, "stark, staring mad"? It occurs in Rabelais' "Gargantua and Pantagruel," where it is coupled with "at his wit's end," but it is possible that it has been used by some earlier writer. The worst of tracking down quotations is that there is usually someone else who can go still further back than you can. "Short and sweet," and "as plain as a nose in a man's face," are also to be found in Rabelais.

The Climber

Prince Urey (George) Troubetzkoy said in an interview in New York:

"In Europe they like to keep a man in his place, while over here you like to see a man rise—founding to errand boy, errand boy to manager, manager to millionaire and so forth.

"But in Europe! An English war veteran came from a war veterans' reunion the other night and said to his wife with a sneer:

"I believe in push and ambition and all that there, but when Sergeant Todd with his peg leg takes to carrying a cane instead of a crutch—well, it looks to me as if he was tryin' to climb out of the station what divine providence sunk him into."

Oldest Republic in World Without Taxes

Paris.—One country which is not worried by the tax question is Andorra, the oldest and smallest republic in the world. It lies deep in the heart of the Pyrenees between the French and Spanish claims of that range.

Besides knowing no taxes it knows nothing about bathtubs, automobiles, radios, jazz bands, "complexes" and wars. It maintains an "army" of only six soldiers, one for each village, "in case of aggression."

The ledgers of the French ministry of finance each year charge Andorra 960 francs (about $50) as a levy originally laid by Louis le Debonnaire. Each year before the mule trails close for the winter, the French collector goes on his annual visit to Andorra to demand 960 francs.

The councillors deliberate seriously as to whether they shall make the contribution, and then, with staged reluctance, hand over a heavy and worn goatskin sack.

The collector writes out a receipt and hands back the sack.

Legend has it that the sack does contain 960 francs—in lead coins and plugged francs, all worthless money which has found its way from France into the realms of the tiny republic. All of which may explain France's reluctance to accept that mysterious goatskin bag.

VENDETTALAND IS LAND OF CONTRAST

Corsica Is Full of Interest to the Tourist.

Washington.—Corsica, Mediterranean island, in the neighborhood of which France lost five brave seafaring airmen, in a disaster comparable to the loss of the PN-9 No. 1, is described as follows in a communication to the National Geographic society.

"Submerged by wave after wave of history and conquest, home of a race full of passion but free from low crime, the scented isle south of the Cote d'Azur offers a distinctive reward to those who leave the rush and display of the continent to visit vendettaland.

"Corsica, like every other country, is a land of contrasts. But more than most, it is the land of paradox. Behind the striking beauty of the island, concealed beneath the commonplace exterior of the people, there is a mystery, a contrary quality which first escapes observation and later intrudes everywhere. Probably nowhere is a generalization more likely to be true and false at the same time.

"One goes to Corsica, as did Boswell's friend, expecting to find every bandit a menace. He remains to find the man with the gun the most unromantic of mortals. Melodrama heroes have accomplished more with the glitter of a silver spoon held revolver-wise than the most Tartarin-esque of Corsicans attempt when loaded to the belt. Yet personal encounter between natives is still a commonplace.

"Corsica, where women go safely alone by night and gendarmes travel in pairs by day, where there are hundreds of bridges and no rivers, where everyone expects the visitor to pay verbal tribute to 'Kalliste' (Most Beautiful) and few can name the mountains in whose shadow they were born!

"Banditry is still a byword and thievery is abhorred. The innkeepers boast of what grand things they would do if there were more tourists, and neglect the few they have. The sun gives the land its charm; and the snow, its beauty and health. The roads are blocked by horses, mules and donkeys, few of them laden, and the automobile, even for the single traveler, offers the cheapest means of transportation. The perfume of the maquis and the smells of the streets are alike indescribable."

LOANS up to $500

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

Meeting Held at Residence of
Mrs. Noah Weaver Last
Evening.

The beautiful home of Mrs. Noah Weaver in East Main street was the meeting place of the American Legion Auxiliary last evening and Mrs. Weaver proved a very thoughtful hostess.

The meetings at the different homes seems to be very popular with the organization as the attendance increases with each meeting. Two new members were present last evening and were received into the Post, in the persons of Mrs. N. O. Frye and Mrs. Lane.

The committee who visited Camp Sherman Hospital reported their findings and made the suggestion that the decorations for the Christmas tree be attended first and on motion made and carried, to buy this from the funds realized from the sale of poppies. Miss Florence was made chairman of the committee. It is the desire of the boys there to have a bird and it was also agreed to send a canary which Mrs. Holman will send within the next week. Mrs. Rooney will also make a donation of a parrot which the committee reports is very much desired.

An appropriation was also made for the Dayton Soldiers' Home and the Old Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' Home at Xenia, Ohio, for the Christmas budget.

Mrs. Prose as chairman of the auditing committee, not being able to be present, gave her report to the president. Miss Anna Florence, chairman of the nominating committee, then read the names of Mrs. A. A. Parrett for President; Anna Shea, Secretary; Mrs. B. T. Hedges, Treasurer; Mrs. Chas. Smith, First Vice President and Mrs. Elizabeth Moeller as Second Vice President. Upon motion which was seconded, the above mentioned candidates were elected.

Mrs. Parrett then made the appointments for the various offices for the coming year: Mrs. Chas. Gusman, Chaplain; Mrs. E. E. Prose, Hospital chairman; Mrs. Weaver, Pianist; Mrs. Robert Young, Historian; Mrs. Frank Goff in charge of the entertainment committee.

The president and auxiliary members are expecting great work from the last named committee as it is an innovation in the organization and Mrs. Goff seems to be very capable of producing results in that line.

The next meeting which would be on the evening of Dec. 28, was voted out as it coming so near Christmas it was thought best to put this off and make the meeting of January 11, which will be held at the home of Mrs. J. J. Rooney, the next regular meeting.

Sunday School Lesson

Lesson for December 20

CHRISTMAS LESSON

LESSON TEXT—Matt. 2:1-15.
GOLDEN TEXT—"For unto you is born this day in the city of David, a Savior, which is Christ the Lord."—Luke 2:11.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Wise Men Visit the Baby Jesus.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Wise Men Follow the Star.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Christmas Spirit.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Prince of Peace.

Note: For this Sunday's lesson the lesson committee has given us an option of a Christmas lesson or a summary of Paul's life. It is presumed that most teachers will prefer the Christmas lesson since Paul has been the central figure for six months.

I. The Wise Men Seeking Jesus (vv. 1-2).

These wise men who sought Jesus were either Arabian or Persian astrologers, students of the stars. The appearance of an unusual star attracted their attention. Perhaps they were acquainted with the famous prophecy of Balaam (Num. 24:17). Doubtless through the influence of the Jews who remained in Chaldea, or the direct influence of Daniel extending to this time, they had become acquainted with the hope of a Messiah. The light they had was dim, but they lived up to the best they had. We learn from them:

1. That All True Wisdom Leads to the Savior, for He is the Fullness of Wisdom.

2. That God's Word Shall Not Return Unto Him Void (Isa. 55:11).

The seed cast upon the Eastern waters brought forth fruit after many days. This ought to bring confidence to many ministers and Sunday school teachers who have not as yet seen the fruit of their labors.

3. The Grace of God Calls Men From Unexpected Quarters.

Some who have the least opportunities give the greatest honor to Christ, while others, blessed with the richest opportunities, shut Him out.

II. Herod Seeking to Kill Jesus (vv. 3-8).

The news brought by the wise men struck terror to Herod's heart. He was not alone in this for all Jerusalem was troubled with him. A glimpse at the social customs in and about Jerusalem in that day will enable us to understand why this news brought uneasiness to the people. They were living in the greatest luxury. Beautiful apparel, sumptuous feasts, palatial houses, etc., led to gross immorality. We can thus readily see why Herod and all Jerusalem should be troubled. They did not want a Savior who would save them from their sins; they wanted to continue in them. Herod demanded of the priests and scribes information as to where Christ should be born. They were soon able to tell him. These people had a technical knowledge of the Scriptures, but had no heart for the Savior as set forth therein. Conditions much like these prevail today. This reception of the Savior shows that perverseness of heart is the cause of so many being indifferent to Christ, and of their opposition to Him when His claims are presented. It is true today that the luxuries of wealth, the frivolities of the fashion-lovers, and the gross immoralities to which they lead make Jesus Christ unwelcome in many quarters.

III. Jesus Found (vv. 9-12).

The wise men, having obtained the desired information, started immediately to find Jesus. As soon as they left the city the star which had guided them from the East appeared again to lead them on—not that it had disappeared from the sky, but no doubt the city buildings shut out its light. The star guided them to the place where Jesus was. When they found Him they worshiped Him. In this they displayed true faith. They did not see any miracle, only a babe, yet they worshiped Him as king. Blessed are they that have not seen and yet have believed (John 20:29). Note God's overruling providence in all this. Many hundred years before the prophet had said that Christ should come from Bethlehem (Micah. 5:2). God so ordered affairs that Mary should be brought to that city to give birth to Christ. Let us be assured that nothing can thwart the divine purpose. God so ordered that these men should depart another way, thereby defeating Herod's wicked purpose. Through these wise men the Lord gave gifts into the hands of Joseph and Mary before their going to Egypt. Doubtless this served a good purpose in meeting their expenses during their stay there. Truly all things work together for good to them that love God (Rom. 8:28).

Old Figurehead Saved

What is said to be one of the finest examples of figureheads from American ships of the old days is to be seen at the home of Robert Moran, the Seattle shipbuilder, on one of the San Juan islands in Puget sound. It is a classic Greek figure of a woman with a short sword and flowing garments, suggesting the figure of Liberty, and once adorned the American clipper ship America, built at Quincy, Mass., in 1874.

The figure led the gallant America on some renowned voyages. One was from New York to San Francisco, around the adventurous Horn, in 89 days, and once from San Francisco to Liverpool in 102 days.

PRESIDENT VON HINDENBURG

Attempting the Formation of New Cabinet.

Berlin, Dec. 14.—(UP.)—Von Hindenburg today requested ex-interior Minister Koch, Democrat, to attempt formation of a cabinet to succeed the Luther cabinet, resigned. Koch accepted the mandate and set about trying to gather a so-called "big coalition" including Foreign Minister Stressemann's folks party, the centrist (catholic), Democratic and Socialistic party. His chances of success however, were deemed extremely slight. Developments during the past week made it appear inadvisable to follow out the original plan of asking Chancellor Luther to undertake the rebuilding, but it is possible that Hindenburg eventually will revert to this plan.

The Rare Okapi

It is to be hoped that the okapi, which has been captured alive in Belgian Congo by Capt. Marshall Field, will be brought safely to this country. These are the shyest animals known and until a few years ago was entirely unknown. This is said to be only the second one captured and very few have ever been seen. The first one was taken to Europe and died after six months in captivity. The okapi resists capture to the point of death and its nearest relative is the giraffe. It lives in the most inaccessible parts of the country.

HEBER LODGE CELEBRATED ANNIVERSARY

Captain William B. Davis, Its First Master, Was The Guest of Honor.

The Masons of Heber lodge, Williamsport, their families and invited guests numbering about 300, had a most delightful time Tuesday evening celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the order in that village.

It was truly a red letter day in the history of Masonry in Williamsport when distinguished Masons from various parts of the state met with the local brethren and rejoiced with them over the accomplishments of their first half century and predicted yet greater prosperity and greater usefulness in the half century just ahead.

A most unusual feature in connection with the affair is the fact that the first worshipful master of the lodge, Captain William B. Davis, is still a resident of the village and very actively engaged in business under the name of the Davis Hardware company. Of all the members of the organization in 1875, he is the only one living.

Heber lodge has had its ups and downs, but its members were a devoted lot who refused to be discouraged by adversity, and now have the satisfaction of owning an elegant home with splendid equipment, money in reserve and a membership of 163 representative men of the community and—no debts.

The celebration began at five o'clock with a reception in the lodge rooms and this was followed by an elegant dinner, prepared and served by the Ladies' Aid society in the community house of the Methodist Episcopal church.

At 7:30, a program was rendered in the lodge room and this was most thoroughly enjoyed by all, the most interesting part of which was the lodge history by Captain Davis in which he recounted the trials and difficulties encountered and overcome before they received the coveted charter.

It is a noteworthy fact that Heber lodge has furnished a thrice illustrious grand master for the grand council, Royal and Select Masters of Ohio, in the person of Edward C. Rector, who discharged the duties of that high office with honor to himself and the lodge from whence he came, and that C. E. Hill, another of its members is the efficient inspector for this Masonic district.

The program was:

Music Orchestra
Piano Prelude .. Mrs. Edna Newhouse
Song—"America" Audience
Invocation Rev. W. W. Trout
Song Quartet
Welcome Address C. E. Hill

Lecturer 5th District
Vocal Solo .. Mrs. Burdick Hunsicker
Lodge History ... P. M. W. B. Davis
Vocal Solo—"On the Road to Mandalay" Guy W. Clellen
Short Talks by Prominent Masons
Song—"Blest Be the Tie" Audience
A Hearty Hand Shake—Good Night

The Knapp Bros., orchestra of Five Points, which furnished the music for the occasion is composed of the following: Helen Fulton, Frances Porter, Geraldine Dennis, Charlotte Knapp, Julia Hosler, Frances McCafferty, DeWitt Bach, Russell Hosler. The director of the orchestra is little Mary Elizabeth Knapp, eight years old.

E. C. Rector was master of ceremonies and short talks were made by Albert Scholl, Chillicothe, thrice illustrious grand master of the grand council of Royal and Select Masters of Ohio; Colonel Simeon Nash of Columbus inspector of the 14th district; Asa Queen, of Marion, inspector for the 15th district; Theodore Wengen, of Coshocton, council inspector, James H. Eymon of Marion, who is a past master of Heber lodge, and C. C. Chapplear. Concluding the ceremonies on behalf of the membership Captain Davis was presented a large bouquet of chrysanthemums, as a slight token of the respect and love they have for the first master of the lodge.

Useless Test

Dr. Lewis H. Haney, head of the business research bureau of New York university, said at a dinner:

"I am against communism and bolshevism. We'll always have successes and failures, as we'll always have good weather and bad weather, sun and rain, light and darkness.

"Why, if you reduced all mankind to one dead level, that level would soon get full of hillocks and hollows.

"In other words, even if you put the rich man under the poor man's feet, the poor man would only just be walking on his uppers."
